

Problem Statement

Decision Tree is a supervised learning technique used to make decisions and classify data based on different features. The problem is to build a tree that divides the given dataset into suitable groups and predicts the correct class for new