

Problem Statement

The Missionaries and Cannibals problem involves three missionaries and three cannibals who need to cross a river using a boat that can carry a maximum of two people at a time. The main challenge is to find a sequence of crossings where the number of cannibals never exceeds the number of missionaries on either side, whenever missionaries are present.