

Solution Statement:

The A* algorithm solves the path-finding problem by using the cost of the path travelled and a heuristic estimate of the remaining distance to select the most promising node and efficiently determine the shortest path from the start node to the goal.